Northwestern Then

DURING HIS 12-year tenure as president of Northwestern, the late Dr. John S. Kyser, center, participated in numerous ceremonies in which buildings were named in honor of former presidents and others who were instrumental in the development and growth of the university. He is pictured here during the 1964 dedication of Prather Coliseum. Now, a major facility on the NSU campus has been named in Kyser's memory.

. . . . and Northwestern Now

THE ARTS AND SCIENCE BUILDING, largest classroom facility on the Northwestern campus, has been named in memory of the late Dr. John S. Kyser, who served as the university's president from 1954 through 1966. The building—which now carries the name of John S. Kyser Hall—is a three-story structure which contains modern classrooms, offices and extensive laboratory facilities for research and instruction.

THE COVER: Northwestern cheerleaders will be generating enthusiasm during the Demons' football game against Louisiana Tech at the State Fair on Oct. 23 and at Homecoming Nov. 13. The cover design for this issue of The Alumni Columns is by NSU Graduate Student Ken Wilson.

BIENVENU ELECTED

The Council of Academic Department Head at Northwestern has announced its new slate of officers for the 1976-77 school year.

Elected chairman of the council was Dr. Millard Bienvenu, who is head of the university's Department of Sociology and Social Work.

Dr. Mildred Bailey, chairman of the Department of Elementary Education, is vice-chairman, and the secretary is Dr. William Knipmeyer, chairman of the Department of Social Sciences.

DILLARD AUTHORS BOOK

Dr. Joey L. Dillard of Northwestern is the author of a book entitled "Black Names" in which he investigates the patterns of name-giving in Black societies from West Africa to Puerto Rico to the United States.

Dillard, assistant professor of English at Northwestern and a nationally-recognized authority in the field of linguistics, also shows in his book how the practices have influenced standard English today.

MOORE EARNS PH.D.

Mrs. Dean F. Moore, assistant professor in the Department of Sociology and Social Work at Northwestern, has fulfilled all requirements for the doctorate degree in sociology.

Mrs. Moore will be awarded the doctorate from the Department of Sociology and Rural Sociology at Louisiana State University during winter commencement exercises Dec. 21.

She received the B.A. degree from Louisiana State University in 1942 and the M.A. degree from Akron University of Ohio in 1968.

VETERINARIAN APPOINTED

Northwestern president Dr. Arnold R. Kilpatrick has announced the appointment of Dr. Sandy MacKenzie as assistant professor and director of veterinary technology in the university's Department of Agricultural and Geological Sciences.

Dr. MacKenzie received the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Texas A&M University this summer. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in zoology from Texas A&M in 1973.

Northwestern's new veterinary technology director also received training as a histopathology technician at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio and as a clinical laboratory technician at the University of Miami in Florida.

RECEIVES DOCTORATE

Tommy Dunagan, associate professor of industrial education and technology at Northwestern, was awarded the Doctor of Education degree during summer commencement exercises at North Texas State University in Denton.

Dr. Dunagan, who is a native of Gladewater, Tex., has been employed at Northwestern since 1959 and has served as a member of the Department of Industrial Education and Technology since 1962.

Dunagan earned his bachelor of science degree in graphic arts in 1959 from East Texas State University in Commerce. He also received from East Texas State the Master of Education degree in secondary education in 1962.

ALOST GETS POST

Dr. Robert A. Alost, dean of the College of Education at Northwestern, has been chosen to serve on the Commission to Reform Education in Louisiana which was recently established by the Board of Trustees for State Colleges and Universities.

The Commission was created to analyze the problems of teacher education and certification and formulate recommendations to deal with the problems of public education in Louisiana.

CHOIR CONDUCTOR NAMED

William Kenneth Dooley, a long-time minister of music in Shreveport, has joined the faculty of the Department of Music at Northwestern, where he will be an assistant professor of voice and conductor of the University Choir.

Dooley served from 1953 until this summer as minister of music for the First Baptist Church in Shreveport. For the past two years, he has also been a part-time voice instructor at Centenary College in Shreveport.

The new conductor of the University Choir at Northwestern received his Bachelor of Music degree from Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J., and sang for four years with the world-famous Westminster Choir.

DR. BAILEY APPOINTED

Northwestern president Dr. Arnold R. Kilpatrick has announced the appointment of Dr. Mildred H. Bailey as acting chairman of the university's Department of Elementary Education.

In addition to heading the elementary education department, the Northwestern professor will continue to serve as chairman of the university's Division of Reading, a position she has held since 1972.

Dr. Bailey joined the College of Education faculty in 1963, specializing in reading education, and she directed Northwestern's Reading Center from 1967 until 1971.

She received the bachelor of science degree in business administration from NSU in 1950 and the master of arts in education degree from Northwestern in 1960. Dr. Bailey earned her doctorate in elementary education from the University of Mississippi in 1965.

Special Bicentennial Homecoming Set For Nov. 13

Proudly We Hail Is Event's Theme

A special bicentennial homecoming to celebrate the 92nd year of Northwestern State University as a leading institution of higher learning in Louisiana is being planned for Nov. 13 on the university campus.

"Proudly We Hail"—key words taken from a verse in "The Star Spangled Banner"—will be the theme of this year's event which is being coordinated by the Office of External Affairs at NSU.

Highlighting the 1976 homecoming will be the football game between the NSU Demons and the University of Southwestern Louisiana at 7:30 p.m. in the new Harry "Rags" Turpin Stadium.

Homecoming coordinators are Dr. C. B. Ellis, assistant to the president and director of external affairs, and graduate assistant Debbie Hebert of Alexandria.

"The entire Northwestern family, which includes alumni, the present student body, faculty and staff, recognizes that a tribute is due to those who 92 years ago started this school on the hill in Natchitoches," said Ellis. "We also recognize that a tribute is due to the forefathers of this country who 200 years ago began this great experiment in democracy."

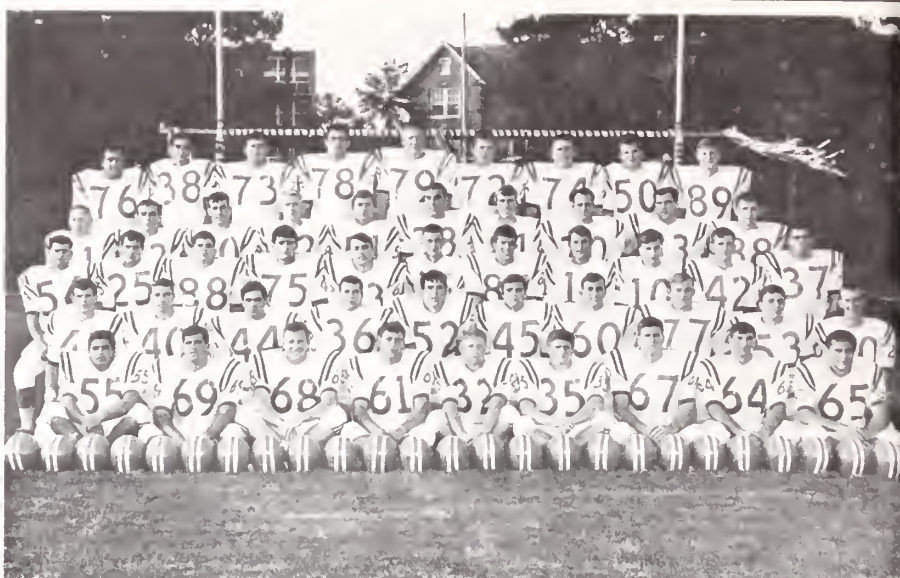

Because Northwestern's football stadium was under construction last fall, homecoming last year was held in the spring in conjunction with a Demon basketball game.

"A record return of alumni to the university campus will be welcomed this fall by the most enthusiastic student body that Northwestern has had in recent years," said Ellis.

The university's assistant to the president stated that a spring homecoming is also planned for February. "Last year's spring homecoming was so successful that we have decided to do it again," Ellis said. "Northwestern has a long tradition of alumni support, and this will be an opportunity for more alumni to visit the university."

Homecoming weekend will begin Friday evening, Nov. 12 with a pep rally and presentation of the homecoming court. That night, a dance sponsored by the Student Union Governing Board will be held in NSU Prather Coliseum. During the dance, the announcement of the homecoming queen will be made.

The NSU homecoming queen and members of her court will be chosen during a campus-wide election to be conducted Oct. 27 by the Student Body Assn. The queen and her court will be formally presented during pre-game ceremonies at the football game on Saturday night.

THE UNDEFEATED Demon football team of 1966 will be honored during Homecoming at its 10th reunion. Northwestern's 1966 Demons—under Coach Jack Clayton—were 9-0, won the Gulf States Conference and received post-season bids from the NAIA and NCAA. Players and coaches will be recognized during Homecoming.

Activities for Homecoming Day on Saturday begin at noon with registration in the lobby of the Student Union. Registration will continue until 5 p.m.

A reception for Northwestern alumni, students, faculty and staff will be held from noon until 2 p.m. in the Cane River Room in the NSU Student Union. Entertainment will be provided by the popular Entertainers of Northwestern.

From 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m., an open house is scheduled for the Student Union, fraternity and sorority houses, religious centers and the new student-financed recreational complex.

Special interest groups, including clubs and professional organizations, have scheduled meetings throughout the campus during the afternoon.

Meeting in the Student Union at 2 p.m. will be the Northwestern Foundation, and the NSU Alumni Assn. board of directors will meet at 3 p.m. An alumni dinner has been scheduled from 5 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Pre-game activities for the football game are scheduled for 7 p.m. Highlighting the halftime show will be a special performance by the Demon Marching Band and the induction of new members into the NSU Athletic Hall of Fame. The undefeated 1966 Demon football team will also be honored at its 10th reunion.

Campus organizations are expected to dress the university campus with displays which carry out the homecoming theme. One winner from each of three categories—Greeks, residence halls and professional, service and special interest groups—will be selected in addition to a grand prize winner. The awards will be presented during the football game.

To assist in the planning of homecoming at Northwestern, several committees of students, faculty and staff members have been formed.

Jerry Pierce, director of informational services at NSU, is chairman of the publicity committee. The display contest is being coordinated by Dr. Grady Harper, head of the Department of Art.

The homecoming court chairman is Fred C. Bosarge, dean of student personnel, and registration chairman is Loran Lindsay, property manager and building program coordinator.

Bob Wilson, Student Union director, is chairman of the reception committee, and student services director Cecil Knotts is directing the committee planning the alumni dinner.

Rory Alexander, president of the Student Union Governing Board, is chairman of the student dance committee. Mrs. Mamie Trunzler, coordinator of orientation and organizations, is chairman of the open house committee.

Pre-game and halftime activities are being coordinated by Dr. Jerry R. Payne, director of Bands at NSU, and Dr. William A. Hunt, chairman of the choral division in the Department of Musi.

Bill Dodd Day Is Dedicated To Fredericks Fund

Wilson and Davis Here For Program

Nationally-famous Cajun story teller Justin Wilson and former Gov. Jimmie Davis entertained Oct. 9 during Bill Dodd Day on the Northwestern campus.

Wilson, who makes his home in Denham Springs, told hilarious Cajun tales in Harry "Rags" Turpin Stadium during a 45-minute show which preceded Northwestern's football game with Nicholls State University.

Davis, who served two terms as governor of Louisiana, performed at halftime, singing "You Are My Sunshine" and "I Can't Stop Loving You" with the Northwestern Demon Marching Band.

Wilson and Davis were on the Northwestern campus to entertain during a special day for Dodd, a 1934 graduate of NSU who served as Louisiana superintendent of education for eight years. His political career also included terms as state representative, lieutenant governor and state comptroller.

At the request of Dodd, the special observance was dedicated to the memory of former Northwestern president A. A. Fredericks. "I want the Bill Dodd Day to point up the fact that this day could not have happened except for the contributions of our late friend," said Dodd. "I should like for the entire program to be dedicated to his memory and that alumni and friends be allowed to contribute of their money to an Albert A. Fredericks Fund to be used for Northwestern and its student body."

Bill Dodd Day on the Northwestern campus was arranged after a group of Dodd's friends decided to honor him in Zwolle, where he finished high school 50 years ago. Dodd agreed to participate in the program if the "day" could be dedicated to the memory of former president Fredericks.

Contributions received during the program have been earmarked for the A. A. Fredericks Memorial Fund and for renovation and expansion of the A. A. Fredericks Fine Arts Center on the NSU campus.

Northwestern president Dr. Arnold R. Kilpatrick said, "It is heartening to see people honor Mr. Fredericks, a man who meant so much to this university."

Activities during the day-long program included a parade and barbecue in Zwolle, a reception and supper in Natchitoches, the entertainment by Davis and Wilson and the football game between NSU and Nicholls.

Demon Cryptogram

The following cryptogram is a simple substitution code—another letter of the alphabet is substituted for the right letter. THE WHITE DOG might be written as RNS LNQRS MPI, R being used for T, N for H, S for E, etc. By noticing the frequency of certain letters (e, t, a, o, i, and n are usually the most frequently used letters in English), and by looking for patterns of letter-repetition in the words, you should be able to "break" the following code. When you do "break" the code, bring the message, deciphered on this paper, to Homecoming, November 13. The first 100 receive a Demon gift at the registration desk in the Student Union.

Demons Have New Home In Harry Turpin Stadium

For too long it had been no more than a dream, an idea in the back of the minds of Northwestern State University's administrators, athletic officials, coaches and students.

Now, at last, that dream is coming true in the partially-completed construction of Harry "Rags" Turpin Football Stadium, an ultra-modern, 15,522-seat structure that will replace ancient Demon Stadium as home of the Northwestern football team.

The stadium bears the name of one of the state's most illustrious sports figures. Coach Turpin, who died in 1974 following a lengthy illness, served for 30 years on the Northwestern coaching staff before retiring in 1956.

After serving as an assistant coach for eight years, Turpin was appointed head football coach in 1934. He had the longest tenure of any head football coach in the history of the university, and his crowning coaching achievement came in 1939 when the Demons put together an 11-0 record, one of only two unbeaten seasons in school history.

Ironically, old Demon Stadium was built in 1939. The old stadium, which at one time also housed students, had been improved very little since original construction, with the exception of theatre-type seats which were installed several years ago.

The east side, which is utilized by students, seats 5,923 and was used for the first time in Northwestern's Sept. 18 home opener against Stephen F. Austin.

The west side is also in use this season, with the exception of the top rows which have been removed to permit construction of a second deck. Building on the west side is scheduled to be completed by September, 1977.

The two decks will have a combined capacity of over 9,000, and between the two will be a glassed-in area for visiting dignitaries, school and athletic officials and members of the Demon Booster Club. The VIP deck will seat almost 400.

A new multi-level press box will sit atop the upper deck and will have room for 166 media members and other game workers.

One unique aspect of the new stadium is its all-new Astroturf field, one of only three artificial fields in the state and the only outdoor one used by a collegiate football team. The other two fields are located at LSU's Bernie Moore Track Stadium and in the Superdome.

Workers are in the process of installing seats and laying the all-new Astroturf field in Harry "Rags" Turpin Football Stadium in this picture taken prior to the start of the 1976 season. The east side, shown above, was completed for this season, and the west side, featuring two decks, a VIP box and an expanded press facility, is planned for completion early next year.

Homecoming, State Fair Fans To See Improved Demon Team

It will be a vastly improved Northwestern State University football team that takes the field for the two biggest games on the 1976 football schedule: the Oct. 23 State Fair Classic meeting with arch-rival Louisiana Tech and the annual Homecoming battle with Southwestern La. on Nov. 13.

The Demons of second-year head coach A. L. Williams come off a disappointing 1-10 season in 1975, but there are signs of much improvement this season. Williams had 39 lettermen and 17 starters back from the 1975 unit, including Sidney "Thundering Bull" Thornton.

Thornton, all 5-foot-11, 242 pounds of solid muscle, is in his final season at NSU and he's got the professional scouts drooling. The star fullback, who runs a 4.7 40-yard dash and bench presses 450 pounds, should be a high draft choice in next spring's professional draft.

The Demons are also playing at home this season after having to travel to all 11 games in 1975. The partially-completed Harry "Rags" Turpin Stadium is in use this year, although it won't be totally completed until the 1977 season.

"We're a much better football team than last year," said Williams. "We're older, and we've got some quality people at a lot of positions. If we can keep from getting injured, we're going to surprise a few people."

The Oct. 9 home game against Nicholls State has been designated "Bill Dodd Day," and a special guest, former governor Jimmie Davis, will be featured at halftime with his nationally-known singing group.

Homecoming will have a Bicentennial flavor this season, with many events and activities scheduled prior to the evening's contest with the Ragin' Cajuns.

Basketballers Embark On First Season As Major College Team

Forward Billy Reynolds, already considered one of the best all-around players in the school's history, heads a group of four returning starters as Northwestern State University's basketball team begins its first season as a member of the NCAA Division I.

The Demons of Coach Tynes Hildebrand posted a 14-10 record last season and won 10 of their last 12 games to wind up college division activity in style.

Reynolds, a 6-foot-5, 190-pounder, averaged 20.8 points and 12.8 rebounds a game as a junior and he'll have a good chance to become the Demons' all time scoring leader during his senior campaign.

Other returning starters for Northwestern include 6-foot-2 senior guard Dan Bell, 5-foot-9 junior guard Lester Davis and 6-foot-7 junior forward Lester Elie. Davis was Northwestern's second-leading scorer with a 14.2 average and led the team with a .765 percentage at the free throw line.

Bell was the Demons' assist leader with 125 and sported a 12.7 scoring mark while Elie averaged 11.4 and 8.3 rebounds a contest.

Frederick Piper, a 6-foot-7 standout from Alexandria's Peabody High School, was the outstanding player in Louisiana's Class AAA ranks and he'll be one of the contenders for the starting center position as one of the Demons' prize recruits.

"Billy could be as good as any forward we'll face this season," Hildebrand said of his star. "We're looking for a super season from him."

Hildebrand said of the move to the major college ranks, "We've been playing several major teams each year anyway, but this is the first time we've had this many (more than 75 percent of the games) on our schedule. This will be the best schedule we've played. I believe our players can meet the challenge of playing against better people."

Women's Team Faces Tough Slate

Northwestern State University's women's basketball team will face an ambitious 19-game schedule during the 1976-77 season, one that Coach Charlotte Corley calls "one of the toughest we've ever played."

In their third year of varsity play, the Lady Demons rolled to an 18-17 season in 1975-76 and finished third in the AIAW Region IV tournament, only one step away from the national meet.

Even better things are possible this year, since Corley's starting lineup returns virtually intact. In fact, the top eight scorers are back from last year's team, led by 5-foot-6 sharpshooter Lisa Brewer, who won Most Valuable Player honors as a freshman with a 17.9 average. Brewer was at her best in the NLU tournament, where she twice put together 39-point performances.

Also back is senior Diane Pittman, who averaged 15.0 points per outing last time around, and sophomore Diana "Tootie" Cary, who hit for a 10.4 point-per-game clip. The team's leading rebounder, sophomore Tammy Primeaux, is also back after 12.8 rebound per game average in 1975-76.

Other players expected to see much action include seniors Pat Nolen and Do Bonin and sophomore Becky Guidry.

University Policy On Records Given

The policy of Northwestern State University with respect to the release of information on students is based on the premise that a student's record is confidential and must be protected from those who would use it for other than legitimate purposes. At the same time the policy must be flexible enough so as not to hamper the student, the University, or the community in the pursuit of legitimate endeavors.

Student records are confidential. Release of information on students ordinarily will be made only on the written request or authorization of the student himself. This applies with equal force to the issuance of transcripts.

Telephone requests for transcripts will not be honored nor will requests for transcripts be honored which have been made by the parent, spouse or prospective employer of an adult student except on authorization from the student.

The parent of a student under eighteen years of age may, however, be provided a copy of such student's transcript for his or her own use on written request. Similarly, in keeping with recognized practices, transcripts may be sent on written requests to institutions from which a student has graduated or transferred; institutions to which a student transfers, or to organizations which sponsor a student provided the student concurs in the request.

Originally, the only information furnished inquirers concerning students will be material contained in the student telephone directory. If a student chooses not to have his name listed in the student directory his name will be omitted and this information will not be furnished to those making inquiries.

The University only maintains such records on students as are necessary for the efficient, effective and expedient conduct of its business. Inasmuch, then, as such records are maintained primarily for intramural use, information contained in student records will be released to outside investigating agencies only on the written consent of the student who is the subject of an investigation.

Additional information on university policy concerning student and alumni records is available upon request from Dr. Richard Galloway, Vice-President of Student Affairs, Northwestern State University, Natchitoches, La. 71457

Demon Booster Club Organized; Donations Already Over $20,000

The Demon Booster Club, the organization in charge of raising funds for the Northwestern athletic program, has gone over the $20,000 mark in donations, according to club president Wayne McCullen.

"We've had more people to come out and get behind the athletic program this year than in any year ever," said McCullen. "There's no way to thank all of the club members enough for their support."

The club was reorganized over the summer into four different areas to become even more of an aid to the NSU athletic program. The club is divided into the Purple-White Club for a $500 donation, the Pitchfork Club for a $250 donation, the Century Club for a $100 donation and the Quarterback Club for a $50 donation.

"This is the year we've really got to get behind Northwestern's athletic program," McCullen said. "We're finally realizing a beautiful athletic complex which will enhance our image and start us on the right path in Division I."

The club's projects include a weekly buffet luncheon every Wednesday at noon at the Holiday Inn, which features highlights and film from the previous game and a discussion of the upcoming opponent by NSU head coach A. L. Williams, and a reception from 5 until 7 p.m. each Saturday of a home game, also at the Holiday Inn. All members of the club and guests are invited.

The club is also sponsoring buses to some out-of-town games and has set up a Demon Gift Shop in "Rags"

Turpin Stadium where fans can pick up souvenirs of Northwestern football games. The major item is the new NSU Demon caps, which are the school's purple, white and burnt orange colors and which sell for $5.00. These are on sale at the Sports Huddle in Natchitoches and at the campus book store in addition to the gift shop.

"Every dollar that supporters put into our program indirectly comes back to them," McCullen said. "We feel that the club is our way of building Northwestern through the athletic program."

Concerted efforts are now being made to expand the Booster Club—which was organized in Natchitoches—into other cities. The group has begun a club in the Caddo-Bossier area and has plans to establish other Booster Club branches.

Large contributions to the Booster Club assures members of purple blazers, reserved parking, fieldhouse privileges, season tickets and seats in the dignitaries box, which will be completed next season.

McCullen is president of the Booster Club, and chairmen of the various Booster Club divisions are Dr. Jolly Harper, Quarterback; Roger Williams, Century; Richard Ware, Pitchfork and Jack Brittain, Purple and White. Williams is overall vice-president, and Dr. C. B. Ellis is secretary-treasurer.

Alumni interested in becoming Booster Club members may complete the form at the top of this page. Anyone interested in forming a Booster Club chapter in their community should contact McCullen or Ellis.

Alumni President's Message

By Dr. Harold Denning

With great pleasure I have observed the renewed interest and support given to Northwestern by its alumni in recent years. It is outstanding to see 20-year-old recent graduates working with those of us who are older in the common cause. As everybody knows by now, any university needs the support of its people if a reputation is to be built and maintained. Let it be understood by everyone that no greater loyalty exists than that of NSU Demons.

Denning

I was on campus a few days ago for the meeting of the Athletic Council and saw first-hand the enthusiasm of students and faculty. Be assured that everything is not perfect when you are talking about 7,000 students and 300 faculty members, but again it would be difficult to find a better team effort than is being exhibited at our school in 1976.

Please make your plans now to join us at Homecoming on Nov. 13. It will thrill you to visit that place that is almost holy because of memories stored in the minds and hearts of thousands who spent some happy years there. The students and faculty are making plans for the best Homecoming ever. "Proudly We Hail" is the theme, and I think it is appropriate this year that we salute our nation on its 200th birthday and our university on its 92nd year.

We are going to have a great time on our ski trip. If you would like to go, get in touch with the Alumni Office immediately. Reservations are being taken on a first-come, first-served basis. In addition to the Alumni Association helping build a greater Northwestern, we are planning more enjoyable activities so we can get together for the fun of it.

Open House Set

The faculty of the Northwestern College of Business will host an Open House for former Business students and parents of present business students during Homecoming Nov. 13 in the Student Union Queens' Room from 2 p.m. until 4:30 p.m.

There will be an opportunity to visit with Business faculty and students about the good old times, current programs and activities and future prospects.

Message from the President

by Dr. Arnold R. Kilpatrick, President

Northwestern State University

This past month marked the 10th anniversary of my presidency at Northwestern State University. It has been a great privilege and challenge for me to serve your alma mater and the thousands of young people who have received their education on this historic campus.

Looking back over the past decade, I am proud of the splendid support you have given to us and the harmony that has existed between the administration, students and alumni. For the sake of Northwestern's future, let us join hands and work more diligently to provide superior education at this university which has produced Louisiana and world leaders since 1884.

All of us are looking forward to having you back on campus on Nov. 13 for the special Bicentennial Homecoming celebration. Some outstanding plans have been made, and we want you to see the new Rags Turpin Stadium and the many other new facilities that make this 1,000-acre campus our state's most beautiful.

I am pleased to report that not only is the enrollment steadily increasing but the spirit among our students is outstanding this year. I like to think that our greatest concern is not quantity but quality in the recruitment of students. As you know, a university's evaluation in the final analysis rests on the caliber of professional people produced by its academic programs.

Working together, the next 10 years will be Northwestern's greatest decade. All of us must tell high school students about the superior education they can receive at Northwestern.

As a final note, I would like to remind you that Homecoming is the highlight of the fall semester for us at Northwestern, because it gives us an opportunity to visit with so many alumni and friends.

This campus has changed dramatically over the past decade. We have had more than $20 million in new construction, and expansion projects totaling some $5 million are currently in progress.

Few schools have grown as rapidly as Northwestern, and we know that you would be proud of this old school on the peaceful hill at Natchitoches if you have not been here lately.

Mark your calendar now and plan to join us for Homecoming. You will not regret the time you spend renewing old acquaintances and revisiting the school which meant so much to you.

Reunion Slated

Journalism graduates of Northwestern are invited to attend a reception on Homecoming Day, Nov. 13, sponsored by the campus chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

Jimmy Hyams, current president of the student chapter, said, "Details are incomplete, but further information may be obtained by writing to myself or Ezra Adams, professor of journalism and adviser to the student chapter."

Eleanor Brown Library Formed

Shortly after the death of Eleanor Brown in the summer of 1975, a memorial was established through the Northwestern Foundation to honor her through the NSU Department of Music. Miss Brown, herself a Northwestern graduate, had served for more than 25 years as a member of the piano faculty.

A committee of her colleagues determined that perhaps the most beneficial and fitting memorial would be a collection of various editions of major piano compositions. The collection will not only make available to the students a large selection of piano literature, but it will also allow for critical comparative study by providing a number of varied authoritative editions. Such study is invaluable to the advanced piano student, and the present holdings of the school in this area are minimal.

It is hoped that the first major purchase for the collection can be made early in 1977. This means is taken to inform Miss Brown's friends and former students of these plans in order that contributions may be made to the NSU Foundation, specifying that the gift is to be used for this purpose.

The collection is envisioned as one which will continue to grow in future years and serve as an ever-expanding memorial to a distinguished teacher and dear friend to many throughout the state.

Alumni Association Sponsoring Colorado Ski Trip

Reservations Are Being Accepted

The Northwestern Alumni Association is sponsoring in January a one-week ski vacation to Telluride, Colo., which is one of the nation's most popular ski resorts.

Participants in the winter vacation will leave for Colorado on Jan. 2 at 11 a.m. from Prather Coliseum on the NSU campus and will return to the university on Jan. 9.

Alumni, members of the faculty and staff of the university and others are being invited to participate in the unique ski trip to Colorado.

Dr. C. B. Ellis, assistant to the president and director of external affairs at Northwestern, said the cost per person for the trip will be $180. Included in the costs are the round trip bus transportation to Colorado, five nights lodging at Telluride Lodge and five days of skiing.

Ellis said rental of ski equipment, meals and private or group lessons are not included in the charge being assessed by the Alumni Association for the ski trip.

Telluride—like Northwestern—was established in the 1880's, and the Colorado ski resort has retained its historic warmth, charm and traditions despite its growing popularity as a vacation spot for skiers.

Northwestern ski trip participants will stay at the modern Telluride Lodge, which offers one, two and three bedroom condominiums equipped with electric kitchens and wood burning fireplaces. The lodge complex provides linens, maid service, a heated pool, sauna and other attractive features for its guests at no additional charge.

More than 20 restaurants are found near the lodge in addition to grocery stores and shopping areas.

Reservations are now being accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Alumni and faculty and staff members are making reservations by mailing deposits of $25 to the Northwestern Alumni Office. Ellis said reservations for the trip must be received no later than Nov. 1.

Coordinating the ski trip is Jim Pierson, president of the Natchitoches chapter of the Northwestern Alumni Association.

Pierson said, "We are confident that a number of alumni will take advantage of this unusual winter vacation opportunity being offered by the alumni association. It offers a wholesome, family-oriented activity that will promote fellowship and unity among the university family and our school's alumni."

NORTHWESTERN'S ALUMNI Association is sponsoring a one-week ski vacation to Telluride, Colo., in January. Alumni, members of the faculty and staff and other special guests may make reservations for the Jan. 2-9 trip by writing or calling the Alumni Office at the university.
